

Mid-Weight Interior Designer

Location: SW18, London

Contract: Full-time (flexible working considered)

Start Date: ASAP

Salary: Competitive, dependent on experience + annual incentive bonus

Rebecca Hartley Interiors is an award-winning London-based interior design studio specialising in senior living and healthcare environments. We design elegant, functional spaces that enhance wellbeing, dignity, and quality of life.

We are seeking a Mid-Weight Interior Designer to join our growing team. This is a hands-on role within a small, collaborative studio, offering exposure to all stages of the design process — from concept through to technical delivery and site involvement.

Key Responsibilities

- Develop design concepts and FF&E schemes in line with project briefs
- Produce presentation material, technical drawings, and construction documentation
- Source furniture, finishes, and fabrics; prepare material boards and FF&E schedules
- Liaise with suppliers and contractors to manage quotes, samples, and lead times
- Support site coordination, including site meetings and installations
- Take ownership of smaller work packages and support senior designers on larger schemes

About You

- 3–5 years' post-degree experience in interior design
- Proficient in AutoCAD, SketchUp, and Adobe Creative Suite
- Confident working across all design stages, including technical delivery
- Strong experience producing detailed drawing packages and FF&E schedules
- Background in hospitality, later living, or high-end residential design
- Organised, proactive, and a strong communicator who thrives in a team environment

Experience in healthcare or dementia design is not essential, but an interest in this sector is welcomed.

Studio Culture

Based in SW18, Rebecca Hartley Interiors is a small, friendly, and ambitious studio. You'll work closely with the Director, gaining valuable insight into both design delivery and studio operations, with the opportunity to grow quickly and make a meaningful impact.
